

Join a prestigious group of International Broadcast Members from around the globe

NAB offers international broadcasters the opportunity to join and receive big discounts to all our conventions and conferences, including the NAB Show and NAB Radio Show. Members save up to $300 on each conference registration. Membership is organizational, so all employees can tap into the member discounts and benefits. NAB produces a wide range of events that focus on all segments of the industry to better inform and educate on the trends and technologies facing broadcasters around the world.

International broadcast members are eligible to apply for the NAB International Broadcasting Excellence Award, which is presented each year at our NAB Show in Las Vegas. This award recognizes the outstanding contribution of an international broadcast member for their community work or innovation in broadcasting.

NAB is committed, now more than ever, to bringing our members the information and resources they need to operate their stations and stay on top of emerging trends. We are working on launching a new Web site and bringing more robust content to our members.

Our sales webinars are a valuable resource for stations to learn the techniques to face these challenging economic times head on. Sign up to receive our member newsletter The NAB Pulse, as well as NAB's Smartbrief and our Radio and Television Tech Checks to find the information you need regarding the broadcast industry.

Only NAB has the resources and expertise to bring together all the converging technologies of the electronic media world. Our members benefit from our ability to showcase these trends each year as the leading association for the radio and television industries. Join us today and support the common goals of broadcasters around the world.
